Autism Whisperer and Psychic Visionary
William Stillman is an internationally known award-winning author and speaker

ABOUT BILL

William Stillman, a self-advocate with Asperger's Syndrome, has been dubbed "The Autism Whisperer," by talk show host Frankie Picasso, for his innate ability to understand and interpret children and adults on the autism spectrum. Lisa Jo Rudy, About.com's autism moderator, has said, "William Stillman is one of the few who can translate the workings of the autistic mind to the neuro-typical community."

Kelly Jad'on, of Internet news outlet BasilandSpice.com, stated, "William Stillman dares to go where few have gone before; without a doubt, he is the forerunner of the beginning of a movement which will alter the development and future of mankind."

Stillman has a B.S. in Education from Millersville University in Pennsylvania, and has worked to support people with different ways of being since 1987. He was formerly the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare, Office of Developmental Program's statewide point person for children with intellectual impairment, mental health issues, and autism.

Stillman's research for his groundbreaking Autism and the God Connection trilogy lead to a personal awakening and, since 2004, he has worked professionally as a psychic and spiritual counselor. His accuracy in discerning the truth and making predictions that come to fruition has been acclaimed by his clients as truly extraordinary, and ranks at 90-98% accurate.

William Stillman takes his psychic work very seriously. Before each event, he spends about 45 minutes in prayer and meditation. Of his spiritual gifts, Bill says:

"I prepare for my work as a musician or vocalist prepares for a concert or an athlete trains for a marathon. I pray throughout each day so as to raise my consciousness and elevate my awareness to attain a perpetual state of meditation".

RAVE REVIEWS

“In my thirteen years as training coordinator, I have never received such positive feedback after a training program as I have with your presentation on the autism spectrum. This holds true of both the Syracuse and New York City presentations.

Your relaxed manner and knowledge of the subject matter kept the audiences riveted to you. I believe that the program delivered by you can serve as a national model that would be appreciated by any audience involved in the field of rehabilitation.”

- Joseph Nye, Training Coordinator, New York Commission for the Blind and Visually Handicapped

“I’ve been at Pathway for sixteen years and we’ve had many speakers--congressmen, sports figures, etc. and I’ve never seen a standing ovation! You touched many, many individuals. Since your presentation, many people have sought me out to tell me how much they enjoyed your presentation--they have felt challenged to think and to change ways of working with some of our students. Your courage and honesty is apparent in your way of relating to your audience--thank you for doing what is challenging to you to help teach us.

I believe there will be positive changes here at Pathway, as a result of your presentation.”

- Michelle Trusty, O.T., The Pathway School

“Bill Stillman is a breath of fresh air. He is a gift to the students we serve. In my many years in education I have come to learn it is truly a rare combination and a very special person who possess the knowledge, insight, sincerity and compassion to move people. I cherish the insights Bill has provided and respect the wonderful individual he is.”

- Patrick Moore, Director of Special Education State College Area School District

“My organization, ASCEND Group, had Bill speak for a day-long Demystifying Asperger Syndrome workshop. Bill was a wonderful speaker who really connected with the audience. The audience was a mix of parents, educators and other professionals. Bill’s knowledge of his subject matter is vast and he challenges his audience to rethink the conventional ways that we view these unique individuals. We had many, many positive comments from attendees after the conference. And our speaker evaluation forms universally praised the workshop. He received very high marks in all categories.”

- Deirdre Wright, President ASCEND Group, Ardmore, PA <http://www.ascendgroup.org>

“Bill gave me messages that he couldn’t have known about beforehand and weren’t generic enough to be meant for anyone. I am thankful for his Spirit messages and especially, that I didn’t back out. My skepticism is gone. The reading was too specific to have been made up. I encourage anyone who is skeptical to take a chance and attend one of Bill’s sessions. Everyone, whether or not they receive a message, will get something out of one of his readings.”

– Molly, psychic gallery participant (and former skeptic)

His gallery sheds light on the spiritual paths of us all, whether you participate yourself or merely listen to the guidance and words delivered to others. I highly recommend booking him at your venue for a dynamic and spiritually centered offering.”
